The Standard Motor Products (SMP) Building is the creative headquarters for original thinkers and modern luminaries who look out at the world and see only possibilities. Since 1919, this iconic building has been the outpost for makers, visionaries and industrial innovators who helped to shape this city and the world.

Industrial-inspired suites span 500-25,000 square feet and feature soaring 12-14 foot ceilings and enormous, light-filled windows with sweeping views of Midtown and downtown Manhattan.

1 THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Located in Long Island City and on the cusp of Astoria's design district, SMP is brimming with new businesses as pioneering thinkers bring fresh perspectives and possibilities.

Neighbor to the future Innovation QNS that includes two acres of open space, 200,000 square feet of neighborhood serving shops, restaurants, and entertainment, and more than 3,000 residential units featuring new luxury.

2 CONNECTIVITY

As local development booms, so does local infrastructure. The East Side Access project is creating faster connections between LIC and Manhattan with a new 8-track terminal and concourse below Grand Central Station. Slated to open in 2022, it will serve 160,000 commuters per day.

SMP is located along a prime stretch of Northern Boulevard and is close to six different subway lines ( M, R, N, W) along with easy access to the LIRR and 15-minute connections to and from Midtown Manhattan.

5-minute walk to local eateries serving fresh seafood and homemade arepas.

10 minutes by train to Roosevelt Island.

20 minutes by train to Grand Central.

25 minutes by train to Downtown Brooklyn.

3 AREA DEVELOPMENT

The Long Island City condo market in 2021 was its strongest on record—with sales volume reaching nearly $1 billion, about three times the previous record set in 2019.* As new buildings are filling with thrilled tenants and streets are vibrant with more foot traffic, LIC is proving to be the ultimate world-class live-work-play environment.

4 PROGRESSION

With Cornell Tech's presence on Roosevelt Island, New York is emerging as a major technology hub. The nearby 12-acre campus houses approximately 2,000 full-time graduate students in computer science, business and entrepreneurship.
